

So happy to Glenda hand

MODEL Glenda Gilson reckons swapping catwalk glamour for manual labour is changing her life.

The brunette babe has been getting stuck in on the Niall Mellon Building Blitz in South Africa — helping erect homes for poor families.

Glenda, 28, revealed: "They're moving into a palace compared to what they're used to living in.

"There are about a million people living in this one small area in shacks."

Some 2,000 Irish people are on the blitz — aiming to build 250 homes in just one week in Cape Town's Khayelitsha township.
